

Cultural Series: Hiring and Retention Of Aboriginal People

Brought to you by the Calgary Urban Aboriginal Initiative

- ❖ The Employment Domain is happy to announce a new series that will be targeted to support education and awareness around the hiring and retention of Aboriginal people in Calgary. They have evaluated proposals from Aboriginal Consultants to deliver one or more sessions over the course of the next year that will look at the Historical Perspectives, Current Trends and Future Forecast of Aboriginal Employment in Calgary.
- ❖ It is the Domain's hope that each session will lead into the next and provide a great overview for the audience.
- ❖ Target audience for these sessions are small, medium and large businesses, service providers that employ Aboriginal people, job seekers, Human Resource managers and staff, Hiring and Retention staff, and anyone else who may find this topic of

Session I: Seek First to Understand

With consultant Bee Schadeck, participants will gain an understanding of how Aboriginal history in Canada has influenced the past and continues to influence the present. Most importantly they will gain insight into why this matters?! This three hour session will include facts, humor, experiential learning and activities as we begin our series looking at the foundation of Aboriginal employment in Canada.
